2026 EDITION / BLACK & GOLD

A personal point of connection.

Private travel, aviation support and logistics, brought together through considered coordination.

JEPSII Charter & Logistics L.L.C is based in Dubai and brings together charter and freight requirements for clients planning a journey or moving goods across borders.

We begin with the requirement: where you need to go, what needs to move and what matters most. From there, we discuss options, review the details and coordinate the next step with the relevant operators, carriers and service providers.

Our approach combines personal attention with practical planning. A single point of conversation helps turn an initial idea into a clearer brief, an appropriate proposal and a defined scope of arrangements.

Illustrative imagery

Personal in approach. Precise in detail.

A premium service begins with understanding the requirement.

Listen first

Understand the purpose, route, timing and preferences before narrowing the options. A clear brief helps everyone focus on what is relevant.

Explain the details

Make scope, responsibilities, assumptions and next actions understandable. Discuss what is included and what still needs confirmation.

Coordinate with care

Bring the appropriate service providers into the conversation and keep arrangements aligned with the accepted proposal.

PRIVATE TRAVEL

Your journey, considered personally.

Private jet charter enquiries begin with your route, travel date and passenger requirements. We discuss suitable options for business travel, leisure journeys and multi-leg itineraries.

Aircraft, itinerary, availability and terms are confirmed through the relevant operator and proposal.

Illustrative imagery

The right aircraft starts with the route.

Discuss aircraft categories with an advisor, based on your route and requirements.

Comfort is only part of the brief.

Passenger count, baggage, airport suitability, routing and schedule all shape the available options.

Turboprop / entry-level

Discuss shorter routes and smaller groups.

Light / super-light jet

Consider regional travel and cabin preferences.

Midsize / super-midsize

Balance itinerary, luggage and cabin needs.

Heavy / long-range jet

Review longer journeys and onboard priorities.

Group / VIP airliner

Explore group size, configuration and routing.

Illustrative imagery

Specialist journeys need a specific brief.

Two distinct enquiry types, each requiring its own review and arrangements.

Helicopter charter

Discuss departure and arrival locations, passenger count, timing and the purpose of the journey. Landing access, routing and operating conditions influence suitability.

Medical charter enquiries

Start a private conversation about the route and transport requirement. The relevant operator and medical team review clinical suitability, staffing, equipment and transfer arrangements.

Medical transport suitability and arrangements require case-specific professional review. Sensitive records should be shared only through an agreed secure channel.

Behind the flight, a coordinated plan.

A structured conversation for operators, crews and flight planners.

A successful trip involves more than the aircraft. JEPSII welcomes flight-support enquiries that bring the route, schedule and ground requirements into one coordinated brief.

- Share the planned itinerary and aircraft details.
- Identify the support required at each stop.
- Discuss timing, passenger and crew needs.
- Review service scope and the next confirmations.

Tell us the route and support requirements. The relevant parties confirm availability, responsibilities and scope.

Illustrative imagery

The details between arrival and departure.

Support conversations built around the actual aircraft, airport and itinerary.

Ground support

Review ground-service needs, handling arrangements and the sequence of activities required for the stop.

Fuel coordination

Discuss aircraft details, location, timing and fuel requirements with the relevant service provider.

Flight support

Bring itinerary details and requested support into a coordinated discussion with the responsible parties.

Operational decisions and service delivery remain subject to the responsible operator, airport and relevant providers.

Hospitality begins with listening.

Preferences matter most when they are understood early.

A preference-led brief

Tell us about the journey purpose, cabin priorities, baggage and any assistance you would like to discuss. Your advisor can identify what needs to be reviewed.

CARGO & LOGISTICS

Connecting cargo with its next destination.

From a consolidated shipment to containerised goods or project cargo, the starting point is the same: understand the goods, the route and the required timing.

Air / Sea / Road
One coordinated requirement.

Illustrative imagery

Air cargo, planned around your goods.

For shipments where timing, routing and handling need to be considered together.

- Review origin, destination and the cargo-ready date.
- Share the goods description, pieces, weight and dimensions.
- Identify any temperature or specialist handling requirements.
- Discuss carriage options and onward delivery scope.

Special cargo acceptance, routing and carriage conditions are reviewed for the individual shipment.

Illustrative imagery

Ocean freight, with a clear cargo brief.

Discuss containerised, consolidated or non-standard shipments with a JEPSII advisor.

- Start with the loading and destination locations.
- Clarify the goods, volume, packaging and timing.
- Review container or alternative shipment options.
- Define documentation and onward transport needs.

A quotation sets out the proposed route, included services, assumptions and commercial terms.

Illustrative imagery

A full container, or the space you need.

Choose the enquiry that best reflects your shipment volume and handling needs.

Full Container Load

A dedicated container may suit larger volumes or goods that should travel without sharing the box. Review container suitability, loading and delivery needs.

Less Than Container Load

A consolidated shipment can suit smaller volumes. Discuss packaging, measurements, handling and the proposed consolidation route.

Illustrative imagery

When standard dimensions are not enough.

Practical planning for equipment, machinery, vehicles and other non-standard loads.

Breakbulk & project cargo

Discuss dimensions, weight, lifting points, packing and access. Transport and handling requirements are reviewed piece by piece.

Roll-on / roll-off

For vehicles or wheeled cargo, share the type, dimensions, condition and proposed route so the available carriage options can be considered.

Illustrative imagery

Road freight. Connected onward movement.

Bring the road leg into the wider shipment plan, from collection through the next handover.

- Review collection and delivery locations.
- Match vehicle and loading needs to the cargo.
- Discuss border, documentation and timing requirements.
- Coordinate road legs with air or sea movements where required.

Route feasibility, capacity and the scope of each transport leg are confirmed for the enquiry.

Good documentation supports good planning.

Customs enquiries benefit from a clear description of the goods and the movement being planned.

- Share the origin, destination and import or export context.
- Discuss invoice, packing and transport documents.
- Identify classification or supporting-document questions.
- Clarify who handles each document and next action.

Requirements vary by goods and route. Clearance and entry decisions remain with the relevant authorities.

Tell us where the shipment starts.

Collection, cargo and delivery can be discussed as one connected requirement.

- Provide collection and delivery cities and premises.
- Describe the goods, packaging and access conditions.
- Discuss loading, unloading and onward transport needs.
- Review the proposed inclusions and responsibilities.

Illustrative imagery

The quotation defines what is included; duties, taxes, storage and other charges should be clarified before acceptance.

Storage and distribution within the plan.

Some shipments need a holding point or onward distribution alongside transport.

- Review storage duration, quantity and space requirements.
- Identify handling or environmental needs.
- Discuss receiving, release and dispatch arrangements.
- Define onward destinations and delivery timing.

Storage arrangements and service scope are reviewed with the relevant providers for the individual requirement.

Dubai-based. International in outlook.

Every route begins with the actual origin and destination.

Start with the route.

Tell us where the journey or shipment begins and where it needs to arrive.

Coordinate the options.

Review the appropriate aircraft, carrier, transport or service-provider arrangements.

Confirm the scope.

Agree the proposed routing, responsibilities, timing and terms before proceeding.

Different requirements. A considered response.

Examples of the briefs we welcome; each request is reviewed on its own requirements.

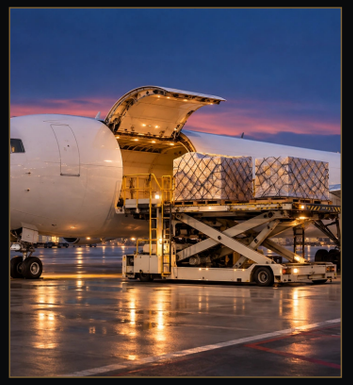

Corporate & leisure travel

Business itineraries, private journeys and group travel requirements.

Operators & flight planners

Itineraries that need a coordinated support conversation.

Trade & procurement

Time-sensitive or planned movements of commercial goods.

Machinery & project teams

Non-standard equipment, access and handling requirements.

Illustrative imagery

From first detail to a clearer plan.

Four practical stages, with a person involved in the conversation.

01 Share the requirement

Start with the route, timing and what matters most. Partial details are enough to begin.

02 Review the details

An advisor identifies the information and provider input needed to explore suitable options.

03 Consider a proposal

Review the proposed scope, assumptions, terms and next actions before deciding.

04 Coordinate the next step

Once accepted and confirmed, arrangements proceed within the agreed responsibilities and scope.

> An enquiry is not a confirmed flight, shipment booking or binding quotation.

A few details make a useful beginning.

Share what you know now; your advisor can help identify the remaining information.
